

SLAV REBELS RUNNING AMUCK

SAILORS FIRE WAR SUPPLIES

Expected Battle Between Kronstadt Force and Capital Troops Does Not Come.

DEMAND NEW ELECTIONS

[By Associated Press Leased Wire.] Petrograd, Sunday, June 3, via London, June 4.—Sailors from the Kronstadt garrison, which recently declared its independence of the Petrograd government, are demanding new elections to the Petrograd council of workers and soldiers' deputies.

Petrograd waited today for the threatened demonstrations by the Kronstadt warships, and as the time passed with no such incident, the announcement of the sailors, who reached here last night, came to be regarded by a majority as merely boastful talk on the part of extremists acting in defiance of the orders of Alexander Lamanof, president of the Petrograd council of workers and soldiers' deputies.

Demand New Elections. The Kronstadt sailors who came to Petrograd said the demonstrations would be for the purpose of bringing about new elections of members of the Council of Workers and Soldiers' Deputies. The sailors present members were denounced as bourgeois. The sailors also demanded that former emperor Nicholas be handed over to them. At street meetings they expressed dissatisfaction with War Minister Kerensky and the whole provisional government, particularly for abolition of the death penalty, which they characterized as premature.

On visiting the Gutzloff quarter the correspondent found that a vast fire had been burning for some time, having been partly extinguished. A large quantity of sulphur was affire. There were evidences of a violent explosion. Windows at a considerable distance were broken.

Ship Fires Red Flag. It appears that at 2 o'clock this morning the ice breaker Oranienbaum instead of the Kronstadt warships, arrived off Gutzloff. It was flying the red flag. On it were sailors and workmen. It was firing on the horns of the Bolsheviks. The ice breaker steamed up and down opposite the wharf, took on board a party of Petrograd workmen and departed.

Simultaneously seven large cases of phosphorus on the wharf were ignited. No one was injured, and buildings were not undamaged, except for the destruction of glass. Inquiries show that it is improbable that any one landed from the ice breaker. The conflagration apparently was caused either by incendiaries from quarters other than Kronstadt or by official investigators on the spot.

The American railroad commission, headed by Elihu Root, which arrived here safely this morning, left on a special train this afternoon bound for Petrograd after calling on the officials here. The Root party probably will reach the Russian capital June 11.

War Situation

There seems ample evidence that the Germans are prepared to go to almost any length at present in sacrifice of men to hold the situation on the western front in hand.

Along the line held by the British effort is taking the form of almost ceaseless counter attacks, both in the Alsace region and in the Champagne. Although suffering a sanguinary repulse of Sunday in repeated attacks on the Vaudreuil and Champagne plateau, the British report shows this to have had some measure of success, the crown prince's troops forcing their way into some advanced French positions.

The British on their front have not been so frequently counter attacked, but whenever recently they have essayed an advance they have evidently found dense masses of Germans opposing them. Today's British official statement does not mention any further fighting in the vicinity of Lens and apparently General Haig has not pressed further the attempt to advance made there yesterday which was checked by violent counter attacks with heavy forces.

In an independent operation further south, near Cherbourg, the British last night recaptured the post taken from them by the Germans in an attack on Saturday night.

PLAN TO DRAFT 1,500,000 MEN

Provost Marshal Crowder Discusses Huge New Army With Senate Military Committee.

EXEMPTION TO CUT NUMBER

[By Associated Press Leased Wire.] BULLETIN. Washington, June 4.—Plans of the war department to draft from 900,000 to 1,500,000 men of the 10,000,000 who, it is estimated, will register tomorrow for the new army, were disclosed today by Provost Marshal General Crowder to the senate military affairs committee. Exemptions, he said, probably would result in reducing the number to 625,000 men for immediate service.

All activities of the department of justice have been concentrated upon the enforcement of the conscription law. Attorney-General Gregory issued a statement to this effect today. "All other matters for the time being," he said, "will be subordinated to the enforcement of the conscription act. Wherever necessary, the assistance of federal state and local officials will be sought."

Slackers Get Last Warning. Final warning against evasion of the draft registration tomorrow or attempts to induce others to evade it was issued today by Attorney-General Gregory. He said he expected a few men in each community to refuse to register but anticipated no resort to force to prevent execution of law.

"It is the duty of this department to prosecute evaders and it is proposed to do so," said the attorney-general. "The charge against the registrants living in this country were urged to register by the Prince of Udine, head of Italy's waywardness, in an address to a delegation of this country or in Russia for a day or two while the state department is clearing up what are officially characterized as 'matters of detail.'"

More Are Arrested. New York, June 4.—With three men under arrest who are alleged to be only minor figures in a conspiracy to transmit information of military value from the United States to Germany thru mail channels, the federal authorities and city detectives today indicated further arrests which they said might result in disclosure of a German spy system.

Apparently the government officers hoped they could uncover an explanation of how Germany knew in advance of the approach of the American destroyers to the British coast so that an Irish port could be mined. Where and when the three defendants were arrested and their identity were withheld pending the arraignment before a United States commissioner. "The charge against them at present," United States Assistant District Attorney John C. Knox, said, "is that of competing with the government by carrying on a mail in opposition to the government." Mr. Knox added that the charge might be changed to treason.

BIG BALLOON SIGHTED PASSING OVER ILLINOIS

[By Associated Press Leased Wire.] Springfield, Ill., June 4.—A balloon, containing two men in a basket, passed over Pleasant Valley, eight miles northeast of here at 5:20 o'clock this morning. It was about half a mile high and was traveling rapidly northeastward. About 50 yards of rope was dangling from the basket. Rock Island, Ill., June 4.—Frank Reuker, living five miles south of Moline, sighted a balloon at 5 o'clock this morning, traveling in a northerly direction. It was estimated by him to be about 400 feet in the air and going at a rate of about ten miles an hour. The bag and basket both appeared to be of a silver gray color. It is not known whether the balloon continued in its course if it was taking when seen by him it must have passed directly over the island in the Mississippi on which the Rock Island arsenal is situated. This belief is strengthened by the fact that it is reported having been sighted at Pleasant Valley, Iowa.

MOTHER THINKS KIDNAPED BABE WILL RETURN SOON

[By Associated Press Leased Wire.] Springfield, Mo., June 4.—Four days' absence from his home, from which he mysteriously disappeared last Wednesday night, has not shaken the faith of the mother of the boy, Keet, 11 months old, son of J. H. Keet, wealthy banker of this city, that the child will return soon.

Police today were working on another clue furnished by a neighbor, Mrs. E. E. Palmer, who lives directly opposite the Keet residence. Mrs. Palmer stated that on the night the baby disappeared, she saw three men lurking in the shadows surrounding the Keet home, shortly after the departure of the elder Keets for the dance at a country club.

HOYNE ACTS ON SALOONS

[By Associated Press Leased Wire.] Springfield, Ill., June 4.—Mackey Hoyne, state's attorney of Cook county, today instituted mandamus proceedings in the Illinois supreme court in an attempt to force municipal courts to dismiss cases against saloonkeepers charged with keeping their saloons open on Sunday on motion of state's attorney. Hoyne seeks a writ directing Judge John R. Newcomer to order the dismissal of Hoyne cases.

Hebert Noon, arrested on information sworn to by John McMahon, charging Noon with violation of the state law by keeping open a tipping house on Sunday. The case was argued today before the clerk Frank H. Danisch instructed to enter the order dismissing the Noon case. Hoyne entered a motion to dismiss the Noon case, but he states the court declined to strike the case from the docket. He contends that court has no discretion in the matter, and that the court's action was simply ministerial.

HELD FOR TREASON

[By Associated Press Leased Wire.] Cedar Rapids, Ia., June 4.—C. C. Fee, wealthy horse trader of Vinton, Iowa, was to be arrested today by federal authorities for treasonable activities against this government. Mr. L. Hooper, United States deputy marshal left noon for Vinton with the warrant. Fee is alleged to have denounced President Wilson for permitting this country to enter the war and to have declared that he would prefer to live under a monarchial form of government than under this government at the present time. Marshal Healy questioned the eight men technically held here for treason yesterday, and they made all sorts of promises if the government would drop prosecution. The men who are socialists, promised to stand their organization during the war if they were not prosecuted. Mr. Healy put the matter up to Washington. He still declines to make public the names of the men under arrest, but they are generally known.

Young men of the draft age who register tomorrow will have a chance to dance in the evening at Schaefer hall. The "Clarendon dancing club" will give an "honorary dance" for the men who register.

Recruiting Officer Polin has been struck by the large number of farmer boys who are volunteering for the army. Altho it is expected that the men on the farm will be among the first to go, the number of men from the agricultural classes are coming in as large or larger numbers than the men from the city.

Carl Ecklund, who played with the West High school football team last year, enlisted today for the artillery. His people live at 161 South Third street, DeKalb. Recruiting Officer Polin told him he could get a clerical position because he wrote a fine hand but the boy said, "No, sir, I am enlisting to fight, not to write." AURORA WOMEN WORKING ON COMFORTS FOR NAVY

OPEN AT AUXILIARY HEADQUARTERS FOR NAVY LEAGUE.

In a great many Aurora homes today women are devoting their spare time to making helmets and muffs and sewing garments for the boys in the United States navy. "Ditty" bags, in which the sailors carry their personal belongings while on Uncle Sam's big warships, are one of the women's products cherished by the jacks.

The women's section of the local branch of the Navy League opened headquarters today in the building at 18 South Broadway, which is also occupied by the government of a navy recruiting station. Here any information sought by women who want to work for the cause will be given. Several young women will be at the recruiting station in the women's department to take care of inquiries. Cutting tables will be installed on which the women will cut all garments such as are needed in hospitals. The garments after being cut will be handed to women who will take them home to sew. They will be given instructions just how they are to be made.

Units all over Aurora are being organized for this purpose. Card clubs and church societies are being organized. Each club has a chairman who will assign members work and will return it to headquarters when it is completed.

Women of the Navy League would like very much to hear from all who are interested in the cause.

AURORA RECRUITS GO WITH PERSHING

Leslie and Kenneth Barber Two of 64 Men Picked Out of 800 Recruits.

Leslie and Kenneth Barber, two former members of the Beacon-News staff, who enlisted in the regular army, were among 64 recruits who were picked out of a group of 800 men at El Paso to go with the first expedition to France with General Pershing. It was learned today.

Corporal Polin, the local recruiting officer, says that the Sixteenth regiment, which the Barber boys have been enrolled in, is called the "Fighting Sixteenth," by reason of its fine record and traditions.

At San Juan in the Spanish-American war the "Fighting Sixteenth" was the first to plant the American flag on the hill. The regiment lost heavily in this battle, almost two-thirds of its men being killed or wounded.

Writing from El Paso Kenneth Barber says: "Dear Friends: We are in a regiment that is going to France with Pershing. Our only hope now is that we stick with it all the way. We have learned already not to anticipate anything until it happens but our regiment is called for the first time that crosses the water."

We hit in El Paso yesterday after a ride of 48 hours. We rode two days and a night across Texas with nothing much for scenery but sand and mesquite. As we approached El Paso the country picked up and a regular tree drew rounds of applause.

Arriving in the city they transferred to receiving barracks by auto trucks.

We slept in cardinals' shacks last night and are in a tent in a city of tents tonight. We have had a regular Texas sand storm today and the tent blew down. We have put it up again but sand is in everything, shoes, food, etc., but we are going to France so we hope. Anyway our regiment is here.

They took 64 men out of a shipment of 800 and assigned them to this regiment. According to the report we leave for an eastern concentration camp the last of the week for final training. Of course we may be transferred any minute or again we may not. Things happen to a man in the army at the rate of a million a minute. There are yesterday somewhere in the past, but tomorrow is the dim and misty future. Today is the time of the army.

We are getting more clothes and equipment every hour to equip us for foreign service. I have more clothes than I owned in civil life, which is some wardrobe.

The sand stopped this letter yesterday but here we are again. Our supply company and our 800 mules left this afternoon for the east. We are having inspections and examinations and hundreds of the men are sleeping on the sand, many from choice as a bunk full of the fine particles and blankets are easily shaken out.

All in all army life is good. We eat in mess kits but have good "chow" and have a fine bunch in command. Some of the "kids" are homesick but most of the bunch is game for anything. Everything is still at sixes and sevens but is gradually rounding to form.

We have muster in the morning and expect to start packing immediately afterward. Will let you know when we get settled again.

KENNETH BARBER.

TIME OFF FOR REGISTRATION

This Tho Polling Places Will Be Open Tomorrow Until 9 P. M.

REGISTRARS, CLERKS READY

Where to Register. In Aurora — All residing within the city limits will register at the polling places where they vote in city elections. All those residing outside the city limits will register at the polling places where they vote in general elections.

In the county, outside Aurora — All residing at the polling places where they vote at general elections. Polls open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m.

There is practically nothing gained by claiming exemptions, altho you may do so if you wish. The answers to the other questions will show whether you should be exempted. The exemption board at a later date will decide if you are to be exempted. If you are not physically capable you will not be accepted when examined.

Aurora is ready for the registration tomorrow for the new national army. The 48 registrars have been instructed to the last detail in their duties. A dozen stenographers have been organized for their work of copying the registration cards.

Chief of Police McNair has assigned his men to the polling places to guard against possible disorders, and 4,000 or more men of the draft age here are awaiting the hour to go to the various precincts and register their names.

Time Off for Shopmen. In all of the shops and factories of the city men who have reached their twenty-first year and are not 31 years old, will be given time off to register. The men will be allowed to go to work places at the same hour as they do on election day. Work is so rushed in most of the factories that only the men who are supposed to register will be permitted to go. Bulletins were posted in all of the shops this afternoon notifying the men of the hours.

City Clerk Frank Grommes and his assistants, Michael Weiler, were kept busy today registering non-residents and sorting cards received in the mail from Aurora men who are in other cities. More than 500 non-residents have filed out cards at the local clerk's office while some 200 have been received in the mail to be distributed to the various precincts.

To Search for It recruits. Uniformed men from the local companies of the Third regiment will visit the registration places tomorrow in search of recruits. The uniformed men will wear the men of draft age to enlist in the Aurora companies so that they can go to the front with their acquaintances and under officers from their home town. Col. Charles Greene hopes to get enough recruits in this manner to fill up the regiment. He has instructed the commanders of companies in other cities to adopt the same system.

The registration booths will be open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. All males, whether citizens or aliens, must register if they are between the ages of 21 and 30 years inclusive. The government says a man is 30 years old until he has reached his thirty-first birthday. With a few exceptions, the polling places used at the last election will be used tomorrow. Any one having doubt as to the place where he must register can obtain the information from the policeman on his beat.

There is a somewhat general misunderstanding as to the length of time a man must have lived in Aurora to claim a residence here. The time of residence does not matter according to government instructions. A man may have been in Aurora only five minutes, and if he is going to make Aurora his home or remain here any length of time, he should register here. The government wants permanent addresses, places where the men eligible under the draft can be reached without trouble. For that reason many men are registering from Aurora because their mail is sent here, altho they stay in this city somewhat uncertain. They have this advantage, that if called before an exemption board they will not have to leave the city.

GERMANS GAIN AT ONE POINT

Tentons Force Way Into Advanced French Positions at Froidmont, Report.

BRITISH RECOVER GROUND

(By Associated Press Leased Wire.)

Paris, June 4, noon.—The Germans have forced their way into French advanced positions on the salient near Froidmont, according to an official statement issued by the war office this morning. The Germans attacked the salient last night.

The statement follows: "The artillery fighting became violent late yesterday on the front northwest of Froidmont. An attack at about 10 p. m. against the salient in our line enabled the enemy to gain a footing in advanced position."

"On the front of the Vaucluse and Calvados plateau the Germans did not renew their attacks after sanguinary repulse yesterday, confining their efforts to rather heavy bombardment."

French Counter Attack. "In the Champagne area a surprise attack on the German trenches east of Toton, taking prisoners and capturing three machine guns."

"On May 3, and 4, our pilots brought down six German airplanes and one captive balloon. Our anti-aircraft guns brought down three machines whose occupants were prisoners. Enemy machines dropped bombs in the region of Nancy and on Dunkirk. It is reported that there were several victims among the civilian population of Dunkirk."

Artillery Battle.

Berlin, June 4, via London, 3:10 p. m.—The artillery battle in the Westschelde salient yesterday to the most extreme violence and continued into the night, says today's army headquarters report.

Another British Air Raid.

London, June 4, 11:35 a. m.—An air raid on Bruges is reported in an official statement issued by the war office this morning. The statement follows:

"The commander at Dunkirk reports that a bombing attack was carried out on the Bruges docks and canals last night with good results."

British Recover Ground.

London, June 4.—The British have recaptured the advanced post near Cherish taken by the Germans in Saturday night's attack. The following account of military operations was given officially today:

"The post southwest of Cherish mentioned in the communiqué yesterday morning, which remained in the enemy's hands at the conclusion of the fighting in that neighborhood, was recaptured by our troops last night. Hostile raids were repulsed during the night southwest of Cherish and in the neighborhood of the 'St. Pierre' chappelle. The enemy's trenches were entered by us east of 'Vermeille'."

German Outnumbered.

Amsterdam, June 4, via London.—The Lokal Anzeiger publishes a speech by the Bavarian crown prince to the Thirty-fifth East Prussian division, which sustained the first British assault on the Arras front, in which he claims that the division stopped an assault of greatly superior forces and drove the enemy back in successful counter attacks.

Battle for Power Plant.

On the British front in France, June 4, via London, 2 p. m.—From a Staff Correspondent the Associated Press.—The fighting which reached yesterday about the electric power station southwest of Lens was as intense as any since the beginning of the battle of Arras, considering the number of troops involved. Canadian troops were in the thick of it, first and last. They gained the ruins of the electrical works shortly before 2 o'clock Sunday morning, after a splendid dash in the night.

"It was not until nearly a week Sunday night that they were finally driven back to their original positions under the pressure of German counter attacks in which an overpowering weight of men was employed. The works were held 18 hours against the concentrated German artillery fire."

One difficulty with which the Canadians were confronted was the fact that in preparing the attack on the works their artillery had reduced the buildings so effectively and had obliterated the trenches dug about them that practically all shelter was eliminated. While the objectives eventually were lost the enterprise was not without compensations for 112 prisoners were taken and valuable communications were obtained. The prisoners represented at least three different German regiments, which engaged in the first fighting and in the counter attacks.

Amsterdam, June 4, via London.—The Lokal Anzeiger publishes a speech by the Bavarian crown prince to the Thirty-fifth East Prussian division, which sustained the first British assault on the Arras front, in which he claims that the division stopped an assault of greatly superior forces and drove the enemy back in successful counter attacks.

Battle for Power Plant.

On the British front in France, June 4, via London, 2 p. m.—From a Staff Correspondent the Associated Press.—The fighting which reached yesterday about the electric power station southwest of Lens was as intense as any since the beginning of the battle of Arras, considering the number of troops involved. Canadian troops were in the thick of it, first and last. They gained the ruins of the electrical works shortly before 2 o'clock Sunday morning, after a splendid dash in the night.

It was not until nearly a week Sunday night that they were finally driven back to their original positions under the pressure of German counter attacks in which an overpowering weight of men was employed. The works were held 18 hours against the concentrated German artillery fire.

One difficulty with which the Canadians were confronted was the fact that in preparing the attack on the works their artillery had reduced the buildings so effectively and had obliterated the trenches dug about them that practically all shelter was eliminated. While the objectives eventually were lost the enterprise was not without compensations for 112 prisoners were taken and valuable communications were obtained. The prisoners represented at least three different German regiments, which engaged in the first fighting and in the counter attacks.

SEMINARY GIRLS IN COMMENCEMENT

Big Week of Year at Jennings Ushered in Sunday With Baccalaureate Service.

Bishop Nicholson Delivers Address—Twelve to Get Diplomas Thursday Night.

The baccalaureate service of Jennings seminary held at the First M. E. church at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was one of the finest services of the kind ever held in this city. It reminded of the "palm" days of the seminary when the interest of the town centered in this old institution.

The church was decorated with flags, seminary pennants and flowers. Red and white were the school colors, and they harmonized with the national emblem. Not a little of the beauty and inspiration of the occasion was found in the bright young faces of the seminary girls as they took their places in the center of the church.

Delegations of friends came in automobiles from a number of the nearby towns. Seats were reserved in the east balcony for delegations from Plainfield, Naperville, Plattville, Aushale, Bristol, Kaneville, Batavia and Waterman.

The auditorium was crowded with friends of the school. The unusual interest manifested in the service and the large attendance was due to the fact that the sermon was preached by Bishop Nicholson of Chicago and Prof. Albert Riemenschneider of Cleveland presided at the organ. Bishop Nicholson's discourse was based upon the words, "What Think Ye of Christ?" and the address was full of power and inspiration. His words to the graduating class were simple and earnest. Professor Riemenschneider's selections on the organ were such as only a master can produce. The choir gave a beautiful anthem, and Mrs. Fletcher Royton sang solo which was in itself a message long to be remembered.

District Supt. Frank D. Sheets and the pastors, the Rev. Charles Brady, the Rev. D. D. Vaughan and the Rev. George F. Courrier, were seated on the platform.

The order of service was as follows: Organ prelude; Rheinberger's "In Paradiso"; Dubois' "America"; No. 92. Invocation.—Dr. Frank Sheets Anthem, "Praise the Lord" Rangeser Psalter, eighth reading, Page 83. Reading.—Rev. Charles Brady New Testament reading.—Rev. D. D. Vaughan Offertory.—Rev. D. D. Vaughan Sermon.—Bishop Nicholson Benediction.—Rev. G. F. Courrier Postlude.

The program of commencement week will be given at the seminary as follows: Tuesday, June 5, 8 p. m.—Senior class play, "The Masque of Pandora." Wednesday, June 6, 8 p. m.—Conservatory recital. Thursday, June 7, 2:30 p. m.—Class day exercises. Thursday, June 7, 8 p. m.—Commencement exercises. Address.—"Everyday Heroines" the Rev. T. P. Frost, D. D., pastor First M. E. church, Evanston.

Here is another entry: "He must have a nickname and be a cross between a gypsy, a cave man and an Irishman."

Another calls for a sweetheart who "must live up to my mother and not speak with a twang in his voice."

The main thing put down in the majority of the entries reads: "He must be wildly in love with me."

FOURTH ST. CHURCH DEDICATES ORGAN

Impressive Services Held Sunday Morning, Afternoon and Evening Well Attended.

Bishop Nicholson and Dr. F. D. Sheets Speak—Two Artists Give Recitals.

Yesterday was a memorable day for the members of the Fourth Street Methodist church when the beautiful new pipe organ was formally dedicated.

The church was filled at three services, morning, afternoon and evening, the First Methodist congregation attending the morning service while the Galena Boulevard Methodist church were guests at the evening service.

The members of the church have long looked forward to the installation of the organ. Both of the artists who gave recitals, Katherine Howard Ward and Prof. Albert Riemenschneider, praised the sweetness of the tone of the instrument.

Bishop Thomas Nicholson who gave the dedication sermon yesterday morning said, "An organ is so distinctly a part of the world and service, when friends meet and sacrifice, pouring out their souls in providing this instrument for the leadership of the church, it is very fitting that it should be formally set apart and dedicated as a part of this house and a part of the preparation for worship to the world of Almighty God."

Donations Necessary. Bishop Nicholson spoke of the man who the doubter, as a representative of the type of business men who are a necessity in the world to keep it from fanaticism. After having extolled the virtues of the man who never builds a church or launches a business enterprise until he has seen the security, the bishop spoke of the man who believes and acts without seeing and in this class he grouped the inventor, the discoverer and the artist who are greater than the "Thomasases."

Dr. Frank D. Sheets, superintendent of the Aurora district delivered the sermon in the evening. He spoke of the mediocre man stating that a philosophy that permits a man to look at himself and others are to be saved is the ban of our system. "In this great world crisis the men who are not stirred by their country's call are mediocre men that even God could not save." "One should believe something and believe it enthusiastically."

"The ever increasing group of people who say they don't know or it can't be done are to be deplored."

Prof. Albert Riemenschneider of Cleveland, Ohio, presided at the organ at all three services giving a recital at 5 o'clock in the afternoon before a packed audience. Excellent music was furnished during the day by the choir of the respective churches.

Corns Stop Hurting, Then They Lift Out With Fingers

No pain or soreness! Corns and calluses just shrivel up and lift off. It's foolish to let a corn ache twice.

A noted Cincinnati authority discovered a new ether compound and called it freezeone and it now can be had in little bottles for a few cents from any drug store.

You simply apply a few drops of freezeone upon a tender corn or painful callus, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can just lift it off with the finger.

No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying freezeone or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful! It works like a charm. Try it!

TURK GOT READY BEFORE THE WAR

Who Told Him to Mobilize, Lecturer at N. E. Congregational Church Asks.

SEIZED ARMENIAN WOMEN

Dr. Ernest Pye of the Marsovan college, Marsovan, Turkey, spoke before the congregation of the New England Congregational church last evening on "Internal Turkey and the Great War."

S. C. Kitchel, field secretary of the Chicago committee for Armenian and Syrian relief, has made arrangements with F. J. Knight, cashier of the Merchants National bank to take charge of the local relief work. Anyone interested may obtain information and subscription blanks from Mr. Knight.

Turkey Mobilized Before War.

"The great struggle which faces the world today," said Dr. Pye, "may be divided into two distinct regions. In the first region, we have men equipped with the implements of war to carry on a fair fight. In the second, with which I shall deal, we have men equipped with all the instruments of destruction that war can give them, reinforced with the brutal, elemental passions of man. Pitted against them is a community of women and children in a defenseless state."

"Since the Crimean war, Russia has been engaged in extending their power westward, and southward. In the northern end of a rough triangle formed by the Caspian, Mediterranean, and the Black seas, lies Armenia, which since the extension of Russian influence, has been partly divided. Turkey has been aware of this extension, and the gradually increasing influence of a better Russian civilization."

"When the struggle began in Europe in the summer of 1914, the Russian forces were mobilized in Armenia in a state of mobilization and encamped in training quarters three months before the outbreak of war. The question is: For what were they getting ready? Where did Turkey get her cue?"

"When the Turks mobilized, the Armenians responded in large numbers, forming two distinct Turkish armies. In the west, was a well-trained, well-officer, splendid army, who showed without a doubt, their fitness, when they repulsed the English army in the Dardanelles. In the east, the forces were entirely different. They were in a pitiable state of organization, ill clad, poorly fed, and with scarcely any arms. Disease caused more deaths in this army than bullets."

"At the close of the year 1914 the Russian force started west, and the Turks went forth to meet it. Because of the location of Armenia, there were soldiers from that country in both the Russian and Turkish armies, and gradually the question spread abroad: Why should Armenians fight Armenians? Undoubtedly, they were better off under the influence of Russia, and there were those who secretly hoped that Russia would be successful. In consequence, the Armenians, at least some of them, were soon suspected of treachery, and there was, it is true, a certain element among the Armenians who would have been active in facilitating the movements of the Russian army."

"The question which faced the Turks was this: What method must we take to guard ourselves? The method decided upon divided itself into three steps."

Hundreds Arrested; Disappear.
The first step was to effectively break the strength of the Armenian male community, so that strength could not rise against them. The step was soon put into execution. In Marsovan City, the gendarmes appeared one morning, arrested between 300 and 400 men and started them off on a march into the mountain plains. It is said that these plains hold many a secret of this world's history, and it holds the secret of those men as well. The fact remains that they lost their lives in some manner. This practice kept up until 1250 men, from the age of 15 upward, had been effectively abducted. The same process was carried out in other cities."

Second Step Made Itself Known Sunday Afternoon. The fourth of July, an order came that all women and children were to take on carts and proceed at once into the valley of the Lower Euphrates. Picture, if you can, these mountainous people, bred in the healthy mountain air, getting into the fever infested regions of this valley. Then it dawned upon them, that it was not a program of deportation, but of extermination that confronted them."

"Now, I shall go back three weeks. Before the Turkish government embarked upon this plan, a step was made that has no parallel in history. Anyone that can supply me with a parallel will be doing what I think is an impossibility."

"The prisoners were thrown open and all criminals were sent into the mountains of Angora. For this in mind—three weeks before these deportation trains were passing on their way into the Euphrates river district, these criminals were sent into the mountains, there to prey upon these innocent people."

"One instance will serve to show that these people knew what was before them. I was in my office one morning when a woman entered and told her pitiable story. She was the mother of children and realized the ordeal before her. She pleaded with me to give her enough of the 'black medicine,' as it is called, to supply herself and her children, to be used when all hope had been lost."

Seven Points About Registration

1.—There is only one day for registration, June 5, 1917.

2.—Every male resident of the United States who has reached his twenty-first and has not reached his thirty-first birthday must register on the day of June 5, 1917. The only exceptions are persons in the military or naval service of the United States, which includes all officers and enlisted men of the regular army, the regular army reserve, the officers' reserve corps, the enlisted reserve corps, the national guard and national militia, recognized by the militia bureau of the war department; the navy, the marine corps, the coast guard and the naval militia, the naval reserve force, the marine corps reserve and the national volunteers, recognized by the navy department.

3.—Registration is distinct from Draft. No matter what just claim you have for exemption, you must register.

4.—Registration is a public duty. For those not responsive to the sense of this duty, the penalty of imprisonment, not fine, is provided in the Draft Act.

5.—Those who thru sickness shall be unable to register should cause a representative to apply to the county or city clerk for a copy of the registration card. The clerk will give instructions as to how this card should be filled out. The card should then be mailed by the sick person, or delivered by his agent, to the registrar of his home district. The sick person will enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for the return to him of his registration certificate.

6.—Any person who expects to be absent from his voting precinct on Registration day should apply as soon as practicable for a registration card to the county clerk of the county where he expects to be stopping, or if he is in a city of over 30,000, to the city clerk. The clerk will record the answers on the card and turn it over to the absentee. The absentee should mail this card to the registrar of his home district so that it will reach that official by Registration day. A self-addressed stamped envelope should be enclosed with the card to insure the return to the absentee of a registration certificate.

7.—Registration booths will be open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Registration day, June 5, 1917.

(Official Bulletin by the War Department.)

younger sisterhood. I have said that the women being deported were of mature years, and had lost the attractiveness of youth. But the younger women, in the full bloom of womanhood and virgin purity, were to be the prey of the Turk seeking youth and beauty for his harem. The word soon passed of this tragedy to young womanhood, bracing herself with all the power God-given defense against her persecutors.

Young Women Saved.
"As the city emptied, attention was centered upon the college, where there were some 50 girl students and teachers; refined and educated. Government officers were convinced that here was the greatest prize. Two or three of them were known by name in the city, and were sought for by high officials."

"There were but four men in the college to offer any protection and we were unarmed. In addition, because of the delicate situation which confronted us, we could offer no overt resistance. But what Christian man can stand and see innocent womanhood suffer? I am glad to say, that these young women are safe, and were at the last information received."

"There is but one thing to be done so that a tragedy such as happened among the Armenian people may not be repeated. Southern Asia must be controlled."

"Nowhere can there be suffering and sacrifice without some balancing good, and there must be a balancing of this incomparable tragedy."

ARMY DESERTERS FEAR DRAFT REGISTRATION

A number of men who deserted the regular army in time of peace, have attempted to re-enlist at the local army recruiting office within the last few days. Corporal Polin said today. The men, who have been fugitives from justice, want to get back into the army without being drafted. They fear that if they register and are drafted they will be given severe punishment. Then again they do not want to refrain from registering and be classed as deserters in time of war.

The Coming Baby

Every help that will tend to aid the expectant mother and foster the well-being of the tiny infant should be promptly rendered.

The time before childbirth is one of much discomfort. This is caused in a large measure by the tightening and straining of the abdominal tissues, as well as the network of cords, ligaments and muscles in that part of the body.

For many years thousands of women have successfully used the preparation known as "Mother's Friend." It is safe and dependable to be used by every prospective mother. A famous physician formulated the preparation. "Mother's Friend" is for external use, and is composed of special oils and other ingredients which have a penetrating and softening effect. Relief from much of the pain at birth is found.

Any woman awaiting childbirth should secure a bottle of "Mother's Friend" from her druggist, when the abdomen first begins to expand. No time should be lost in beginning its use. Apply it night and morning without fail. Address: Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. B, 258 Atlantic, Ga., for reliable price lists.

GERMAN STAGE FOLK PUT BAN ON AMERICA

(By Associated Press Leased Wire.)
Amsterdam, via London, June 4.—The recently attended general meeting of the German Stage society at Berlin Saturday passed without a dissenting vote, the proposal of Count Seebach, director of the Dresden Court theatre, binding the members to grant no contractual or extra-contractual leave of absence to singers wishing to go to America and not to engage for five years any German singer who accepts an American engagement. Those present included the directors of the Schiller and Kleins theatres and the German opera house of Berlin and the director of the Court theatre at Vienna, Stuttgart, Cassel, Wiesbaden, Hamburg, Leipzig, Breslau, Bremen, and Dusseldorf.

Count Seebach declared that his proposal had nothing to do with the war but was a measure of self-defense and self-preservation.

TRAPPED THIEF DIVES TO YARD

Short, Thickset Man, Caught in Joseph La Rose Home, Leaps Thru Window.

ESCAPES WITH JEWELRY

The police have been able to get a fair description of the burglar who has been operating in Aurora for the past week and Chief McCarty today issued instructions to all members of the department to pick up all strangers answering the description. Mr. Burglar was seen in the act of burglarizing the home of Joseph LaRose, 359 Hammond avenue, last Friday night and was seen by a number of people in the neighborhood.

"Be on the lookout for a short, stocky man wearing a black cap," was the order Chief McCarty gave to his men. The burglar was seen to climb from LaRose's chair, was the open door to the bedroom.

LaRose heard a noise in the bedroom and got up to see what caused it. As he stepped into the room he saw the form of a man, diving head foremost thru the open window. In the Spanish coast, according to Chris Thornton, an American seaman, a survivor of the ship, who has arrived here. Thornton said the ship was attacked without warning while on the way from Malta to a British port. The second engineer and a sailor lost their lives, he declared. The Karuma, built in Sunderland in 1910, was owned by the Union Steam Shipping company of London. When sunk, it was in the service of the British admiralty carrying supplies.

The Russian bark Imber Horn of 1,355 tons gross from Mobile, Ala., March 18, for Greenock, Scotland, was sunk by a German submarine May 1 off the west coast of Ireland, according to American members of the crew who have arrived here. The crew escaped.

Sahr this morning signed the government papers and was compelled to have three photographs taken, one of which was to be pasted on each paper. The paper left in Sahr's possession has his photo attached as a means of identification.

Sahr stated that until a year ago he had been a private in Company I of Aurora, Third regiment.

ANTI-DRAFT SPUTTERINGS.
It would be extraordinary if obstruction to selective draft registration should not crop out here and there tomorrow. The machinery of registration is improvised. It is in the hands of volunteer workers. The compulsive power behind it in many of the sparsely settled districts of the country is slight. In a few of the larger cities, where pro-kraker, socialist and irreconcilable pacifist sentiment is strong, a seditious campaign has been made to deter men between the designated ages from registering.

Yet obstruction of this sort will be only sporadic. The country has accepted the draft as a military necessity. The principle of equality of service on which it is based appeals to the democratic spirit. There are to be no exemptions based on wealth, as there were in the civil war draft of 1863. No drafted man can hire a substitute. No citizen is asked to do what any other citizen of like qualifications for military service may not also be required to do. The conscription system is fair and just. It has the moral support of the overwhelming majority of our people.

In the mountain regions of Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky and through federal laws enjoy scant respect. The mountaineers live for themselves and defend outside rule. The southern outlander had the luck in trying to control the mountain population within its territorial limits. Many of the Appalachian mountaineers fought valiantly on the side of the north. But they would fight for no cause under compulsion. There may be trouble now in getting a full registration in this region. But that will be due to force of individualistic tradition, not to any such thing as pacifist or pro-kraker sentiment.

Riotous meetings in Chicago and Cleveland have disclosed some really seditious anti-draft propaganda. This is addressed chiefly to alien workers. It is pro-kraker primarily and pacifist secondarily. But it has behind it no widespread anti-war feeling such as inspired the copperheads of 1862 in New York, where the anti-draft riots were most serious. The copperheads were mostly native Americans with a venomous hatred of the government and a strong political sympathy with the secession movement. The kraker element excepted, most of the leaders in the present anti-draft agitation are more noteworthy workers using their opposition to conscription to keep themselves in the limelight.

A little action by the department of justice would soon drive most of these to cover for they are not desirous of a jail martyrdom. The more dangerous plotters—the agents of the krakers—are more elusive. But they can be dealt with by the secret service, which already, presumably, has full information about their activities.

We do not look for anything but a feeble sputtering of anti-patriotic sentiment on registration day. The very feebleness of it will emphasize the country's real unity of purpose. Its willingness to accept all the burdens and discharge all the duties necessary to realize the objects of the war.

THE DRAFT IN CANADA.

Canadians generally, in the period before the United States declared war, judged the American attitude a little harshly. They were critical of our slowness in resenting German aggression. They did not make allowances for the strength of the influences here which were condemning us to passivity. Genuine Americans also deplored those influences but having a closer view of them, did not underestimate them.

Now, when she is about to go on a conscription basis, Canada realizes to what extent reluctance to go to war may manifest itself even among a relatively homogeneous, un-hyphenated people. There are two strains of blood in Canada's population. But it is impossible to call either element hyphenated in the American sense, for the French Canadians have lived on Dominion soil longer even than the English speaking Canadians have. Yet with no conflicting blood or cultural ties (for France and Great Britain are now allies) the French Canadians have shown a surprising disinclination either to enlist or to support the war otherwise. They have practiced the pacifism which our pacifists have so far only talked about. Conscription has been deferred for nearly three years because of the fear that it would bring about a clash between the English speaking and the French speaking elements.

Americans will sympathize with the Canadian government in its dilemma. And looking back at our exhibition of indecision and our lack of unified national feeling, due to the pro-German and the pacifist elements, both alien and native, in our population, English speaking Canadians will doubtless now modify their former critical attitude toward us. Our predicament was for a long time graver than theirs. But we have extricated ourselves. They will extricate themselves also. Each country will achieve thru war a far greater unification. And in doing so each will become more sympathetic with the other. Having worked and fought together and overcome similar anti-war disaffection at home, the United States and Canada will find themselves standing closer together than ever before. They will be more appreciative neighbors and warmer friends.

YOUR HEALTH

(By JOHN B. HUBER, A. M., M. D.)

Real cures are effected only by team work, the doctor and the patient pulling faithfully together.

Arrested Cases.

1. What is an arrested case of tuberculosis? 2. Can a man who has slight pain in the chest and who spits every morning a little, be considered an arrested case? 3. Will such a man be able to work 10 hours every day in a factory? 4. How many hours a day should he rest? 5. Is there any hope that he will be cured? 6. Can he get married? Can he serve in the army?

Answer—When all the constitutional symptoms of tuberculosis are absent; when the doctor who has had the case under observation finds that the physical signs (of the lung condition) are either stationary or bettered; and when these goodly conditions have existed for two months. 2. No. 2. Most certainly not, both for his own sake and for that of his fellow workmen; for it has been proved that the consumptive workman who is careless as to the disposition of his sputum infects his fellow workmen more than the members of his own family. How many hours such a sufferer should work can be estimated for each case only by the family physician after examination. 4. Depends on his condition as ascertained by his doctor; he must not work at all if he has fever. 5. Yes, if he follows out faithfully the principles of the tuberculosis cure. 6. He should not until two years after all symptoms of the disease have disappeared. 7. Let him present himself to the military authorities for examination; if he is the slightest degree tuberculous he should not serve. Trench warfare will quickly develop any latent tuberculosis.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Gout and Asthma.

From time to time a young man of 20 has been troubled with gout. He is now in poor health, with dark circles under his eyes; and every morning about 4 o'clock he is awakened by a smothering sensation, which makes him get up at once. His trouble has been diagnosed as gout, asthma and bronchial trouble. He smokes both cigars and cigarettes. What is best for him to do?

Answer—Real gout has three characteristic symptoms—prominent eyeballs, rapid heart and swelling in the throat. All real asthma is bronchial (bronchial asthma). Only on examination can the doctor make the differentiation. If this young man is to be helped he will have to cut out the tobacco, absolutely.

Chest Pain.

I am 26 years old and weigh 185 pounds. About a month ago I felt a quivering pain across one side of my chest, which afterward spread over to the other side and up to my shoulders. My tongue was at the time coated every morning. My appetite leaves me sometimes for three or four meals.

Answer—Such chest pains may be due to digestive disturbances especially in view of the other symptoms you mention. Besides your weight is against lung trouble. And yet it would be very timely examined, to eliminate the possibility. Stomachic may be thus afflicted.

Colitis.

Can colitis (inflammation of the large bowel) be cured?

Answer—That depends on the nature of the inflammation, which may be cancerous, typhoidal, tuberculous, syphilitic, simply ulcerative or due to worms. In many cases colitis is curable, in many others it is not. There are however few cases in which the malady cannot be alleviated. I will mail full particulars to anyone sending me a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Maid Antagonism.

Sex antagonism in the home phase recently came up. It means, of course, the peculiar antagonism which, because of their different viewpoints and interests, exists between the two sexes, even when they are with love.

As a home to the household business, the antagonism between the two sexes is a factor in the household. It is a factor in the household, and it is a factor in the household.

Controlling the Nation's Food

IV. Prices and Price-Kings
(By Frederic J. Haskin.)

Washington, D. C., June 1.—There is one thing which every consumer can do right now to keep prices down, and that is to refrain from buying more than he usually buys of staple food articles. The present high price of staples is due in no small part to the sudden alarm about food shortage, which has sent housekeepers into the market to buy far beyond their immediate needs. For example, in a certain suburb the people have clubbed together to buy flour by the barrel. A certain clerk makes it a practice to buy ten pounds of sugar every day. All over the country these things are being done. One of the results is that millers have orders for about twice what their mills can produce. The inevitable effect is to force prices upward, to encourage speculation.

Food hoarding is not economy. To buy vegetables that will keep and store them in your cellar, to buy fruits and put them on the pantry shelf are genuine food economies because in these ways you may save foods which are abundant in the summer, and large quantities of which will rot. By such expenditures as these you are adding your mite to the nation's food supply. But by hoarding flour and sugar you are forcing up the price of these articles and you are not increasing the supply.

The question of prices seems to be badly misunderstood. Thus a general impression seems to have gotten abroad that congress is to give the president power to fix prices so that he can arbitrarily lower the retail price of food articles. As a matter of fact, the bill, as reported by the committee does give him this power, that is little likelihood that he will exercise it.

The primary purpose of price-fixing is to assure the farmer of a good price for his products, so that he will raise all that he possibly can. It has been the invariable experience of the farmer that a small crop brings a better price than a large one. For example, a man could make more money last year out of a half crop of potatoes than he could two years ago out of a bumper crop. The south gets more for a moderate cotton crop than it does for a big one. Every farmer knows this. And every farmer, for that reason, is extremely suspicious of the propaganda on the part of the government and the press for him to plant more and produce more. He is asked to spend his money for seed, and in developing new lands, when his entire experience teaches him that a big national crop of any staple will mean low prices for that staple. And his costs of production are so high that he cannot afford to sell at a low price. For example, right now a big potato

Mrs. Parrish stirred. "I wouldn't sleep a wink. I'd be waiting for him all night."

The Indians are harmless," said Innes. They would hurt any one. They're Indians, period. Mrs. Parrish. I'll never get over being afraid of their dark faces. They're heathens."

Innes turned her eyes hopefully away from the woman's twitching face. She looked out the windowed door beyond the line of stakes which stood for the proposed canal. She wondered when Mr. Leelan Jr. would be coming back for her.

It was that, a company, she said. I declare if I don't the Bushy woman exclaimed Mrs. Parrish, jumping up and going to the door. Her dress threatened to leave her. She dashed the door. There's somebody out here. It must be Mr. Bushy."

The watched room was then fully revealed to the guest. There was a tent in the Indian-owned camp corner of green and red, the table covered a fringed mat, and a lamp was set on the couch from the boxes by the door. From the couch behind a graphophone perched uncertainly on the edge of the table. A pile of Youth's Companions topped up a box on the left. There were a few pictures from Life tacked upon the board walls, a few were posted to the canvas top-walls. Innes segregated the two influences. The graphophone, the file of Youth's Companions, the pictures from Life, these were the contributions of Jim Parrish toward the elevating of their world life.

The next, the disorder, the disorder made up no less a heroic subscription from the wife, who was too frail for the sacrifice, too fond and too proud for a surrender.

"How can you see so far?" Innes asked. "I thought I could see farther than most people, but this glare blinds me."

"If you lived over here in Number six, miles away from everybody, with nobody to see, unless it's the engineers or those black Indians, you'd learn to know folks miles off. It's yes, it is Mr. Bushy. He's been promising to bring her over here to sit with me the first time he came to inspect the Westaria. It's to come right past there when it's finished. I'll be seeing folks then. But I shouldn't complain of not having visitors. Two in one day!"

To Innes Hardin the excitement seemed all out of proportion to the cause. Dark somber blotches were coming out on the woman's skin. "Sit down. It's too warm for you by the door."

"They might go past," began Mrs. Parrish when a smell of burning food smote both their nostrils. "The rice and codfish's burning," she exclaimed, and fled to the kitchen in the leap-to.

She was not back in time to greet her guest, whose vigorous entrance struck at once the note of middle-aged, experienced authority. Innes had met her but once before, but she recognized the species, the woman who has the best recipe for bread, the most valuable hints for housekeepers, handy in the sick room, indispensable at accoutrements, a kindly irresistible culture.

There talk was of the coming heat, the new canal, the difference in the

Farmers See Prices Triple.

For example, many farmers this year sold their potatoes for a dollar a bushel and afterward saw those same potatoes sold in the market for three to four dollars a bushel. It is evident that farmers and middlemen made an exorbitant profit at the expense of both producer and consumer. Under the food administration as planned, supposing that a minimum price had been fixed, the farmer would have gotten perhaps $2 for his potatoes, and with careful government supervision of shipment and storage, they would have reached the consumer at just enough more than that to pay the legitimate costs of distributing them. An arbitrary maximum price upon potatoes, it may be safely said, will be one of the last expedients resorted to by the food administrator.

Needless to say, these price-fixing provisions of the bill will be fought in congress and may be stricken out. Even the committee devoted much time from scientific lines in drawing them. The consensus of expert opinion seems to be that a fixed or basic price, or if the market price drops below the maximum price, he may feed his corn to his hogs and sell them. A fixed price, guaranteed by the government, which will assure the producer of a good profit over all costs of production, is considered to be the most scientific method of price-fixing. This sort of a price was urged upon the house agriculture committee by Gifford Pinchot, but the congressmen would not accept it, apparently because they were afraid their farming constituents would resent having a limit thus arbitrarily set to the amount they might earn.

It might be added that according to Dr. A. E. Taylor, who spent some months in Europe studying food administration, the European countries have not been able to keep the price of food down to the rate of wages. All over the world the cost of living has been advancing more rapidly than the rate of wages. War has brought this fact home to the European governments, for in order to keep their industrial classes at work making munitions they have had to pension them. According to Dr. Taylor the German government has a civil pension list of between seven and eight million people, who are paid pensions for the stated purpose of making up the difference between wages and the cost of living. Similar civil pensions, he says, are paid in the neutral countries of Holland and Switzerland for the same reason. War, by making every man necessary to his government, has forced the governments to take heed of what is necessary to every man.

It was the unutterable purple waist she could not get another without passing thru the sitting-room, and she had a feeling of shame to emphasize her embarrassment before Miss Hardin. Her cheeks were redder, her eyes more glittering.

She established Mrs. Bushy on the wire-collapse couch, with the green and red flowered cover. The guest preferred a straight chair, but Mrs. Parrish would not hear of it, she would make "Number Six," the melenor.

Mrs. Parrish came fluttering back, her brown apron changed for a clean white one. A few pins sealed the

TODAY'S BUSINESS PROGRAM.
Learn to take criticism without rancor.

What does this mean to you?

XXIV.
I am particularly down in the mouth today on account of a letter I received from mother. I wrote her last week how expensive it was to live in Boston, and I told her that only getting ten from dad and five from the store meant that I was always hard up, and sometimes I had to go without my meals at the end of the week. And I asked mother if she could send me just a few dollars to help me out. I thought if she did I could pay off Daniel Moss, the money lender. I knew if she had the money she would help me.

Somehow or other my letter to her got mixed up with dad's mail and he opened and read it, and she says he has forbidden her to send me any money at all. She told me how sorry she was, but being sorry don't help me any.

Everybody seems down on me somehow these days—that is, nearly everybody, for Rosie I know will sympathize with me. Rosie and I had a dandy time last night, but the few extra dollars I had from Moss all went in paying for it, and when I think of that twenty I owe, I naturally feel worried. Twenty is not much, but when you only get fifteen a week, and can hardly live on that, it might just as well be a thousand.

Just because I was blue Phillips nagged me all day long. I didn't dust the counters right. I had left some paper on the floor. The string came off a customer's parcel, and the customer, being in a hurry, didn't wait to have it tied up again. And Phillips blamed me for that. I told him straight that I didn't appreciate being criticized all the time by him.

"Is that so?" he remarked sarcastically. "I would have thought from your pleasant expression that you are delighted to have it." Then he added more pleasantly, "Let me tell you, young man, that you can never be a big man until you learn to take criticism without rancor."

"That's all right," I came back. "But you are always pecking and pecking at me and Billy Murray. You don't say much to the other fellows. There's a fellow you fired last week. Why didn't you pitch into him a bit?"

"Waste of time," replied Phillips. "And I'm beginning to believe it's a waste of time on you."

"What do you mean?" I asked.

"Well, if I had a barrel of apples and one was rotten, I'd throw it away—wouldn't I?"

I nodded.

"But," continued Phil, "if a few of these apples had just one or two little specks on them, I wouldn't throw them away—would I?" I would just take out the specks. I didn't bother to take out any specks in the fellow.

herself had a rocker. Perched on one edge of it, she rocked back and forth violently, until her chair kept grating against Innes. The girl pitied the woman's excitement, wondering at it.

I fired last week because it was a waste of time to take specks out of a rotten apple."

Rosie sent a little note down to me by a cash girl, asking me to see her at lunch time, and I did. The poor girl was heart-broken. It seems a customer had come into the glove department to change a pair of gloves which had obviously been cleaned. "I felt snippy," explained Rosie, with a shake of her pretty little head, "and when that woman came in and tried to put a thing like that on, I got mad and pointed out to her the glove cleaner's mark. I didn't say anything to her, but I said to the girl next to me, 'that the customer could hear.' My! some people think we're easy—don't they? Might as well try to steal gloves off you." The woman got mad and reported me to the floorwalker, who sympathized with the customer and called me down for insolence. Right where she could hear—just because I wouldn't let her beat us for a new pair of gloves. I got level with him all right, tho," she added viciously.

"What do you mean?" I asked.

"Look here," she said with a twinkle in her eye, and she showed me two pairs of new gloves—her size.

"What's the idea?" I said.

"Well, if the firm's so darn anxious to give gloves away, I guess they can give me a couple of pair."

"Rosie!" I exclaimed, "you don't mean to say you've sto—taken them?"

"Why not?" she retorted defiantly. "They let customers steal goods right and left and say nothing to them. And then only pay me $3 a week—it isn't enough for a girl to live on and have a good time, so they de-segue to have some of their things taken. Forget it," she added squeezing my arm, "you are too particular."

"I guess it's all right," I said, but somehow I didn't feel right about it. "You're not going to squeal on me?" she said anxiously.

"Squeal on you, Rosie!—not so's you'd notice it."

Just the same I have a feeling that I'm guilty to

Business Questions Answered.

We often read that salesmen have to possess personality. Just what do people mean by personality?

Personality is the outward expression of our positive traits of character. If we have such positive traits as cheerfulness, truthfulness, courtesy, good nature, the expression of these traits will give us a pleasing personality. If, however, we possess the negative traits of pessimism, distrust, laziness and apathy, we will have disagreeable, irritable personalities. Incidentally you can make your personality what you will by developing in yourself those traits the sum and substance of which make up the personality you desire.

Mr. Whitehead will answer your business questions on buying, selling, advertising and equipment and you can question clearly and give all the facts. Your correct name and full address must be given to "Inquirer." Those which are anonymous must be ignored. Questions regarding business practice will be sent by mail. Answers will be answered in this column. The most interesting problems of business will be taken into the story of Peter Flint.

AUTO TRUCK RUNS
OVER LITTLE BOY*Valentine Moving Van Crushes
Body of Little Walter Finnette, Aged Three.*Accident in Broadway, Sunday Morning May Prove Fatal—Injuries Many.

Walter Finnette, 3 1/2 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Finnette, 446 South Broadway, was run over by the motor moving van of the Valentine Moving & Storage company in the front of the home of his parents yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The truck weighs 6500 pounds and with its own weight passed over the youngster's hips. The truck was not loaded.

At the Aurora City hospital this afternoon it was said the boy was in a critical condition. He has several internal injuries, his left leg is broken in two places and he has a severe cut on the back of his head.

Mother Too Late.

"I never allow Walter to go out in the street," Mrs. Finnette said, "and yesterday morning when I looked out of the window and saw him sitting on the curb, I became frightened. He was playing with a dandelion flower. I hurried out the side door but before I got to the front yard the truck had run over him and a neighbor was picking him up."

The Finnette boy had run across the street from his own home, witnesses say, and was playing on the curb when the Valentine machine came up and ran into the street, directly in front of the truck. He was knocked to the pavement by the slow moving machine and one wheel went over him.

Machine Moving Slowly.

Clarence Valentine, who was driving the truck at the time of the accident, his father, Lewis Valentine, 222 Iowa avenue, was riding on the seat with him. The machine was traveling very slowly at the time of the accident, the elder Valentine says, but the boy ran into the street directly in front of the truck and it was impossible to avoid the accident.

SUPREME LIBERTY LOAN

(By Associated Press Staff Writer.)

New York, June 4.—The supreme effort in the national campaign for the liberty loan is yet to be made, William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, said in a telegram received by the loan committee here today. The secretary will tonight on behalf of the committee and his message was wired prior to his departure from Washington.

German Tobacco Curtail.

(By Associated Press Staff Writer.)

Berne, Switzerland, May 31.—The long-awaited and dreaded reduction in the production of tobacco all over Germany was to go into effect May 1. The government decreed that from that time cigars, snuff and chewing tobacco might be produced during the next year only in quantity equivalent to the total production during the first seven months of 1916, or during the first seven months of 1915, whichever total was smallest. That means a serious reduction in production, for it not only spells five-twelfths less than normal, but only 60 per cent of the normal in those seven months, since the production in 1915 and 1916 was restricted by that much.

WOODMEN AND R. N. OF A.
MEMBERS IN MEMORIAL*LODGEMEN AND AUXILIARY GO TO CLAIM STREET CHURCH.

The annual memorial services of the Modern Woodmen of America and Royal Neighbors was held yesterday morning at the Claim Street Baptist church upon the invitation of the Rev. T. L. Stephens.

The pastor spoke on the subject, "Fraternity and Religion," introducing the lodge to the church and the church to the lodge. He said in part: "The Modern Woodmen of America is a beneficiary society. Its benefits are threefold—the insurance benefits, the fraternal benefits and the sanitary benefits. Second, the Modern Woodmen of America is an economic society. It is well managed. It is also a democracy. It is owned and managed by its own members and consists of 14,256 camps, each of which is a cordial center capable of great possibilities as the individuals desire to make it."

"The Christian religion is a soul saving religion. It is the gospel of love. It is to cure moral disease and therefore addresses itself to those who stand in greatest need of its aid. The lodge is compelled to exclude those who live in unhealthful territory and those engaged in extra hazardous occupations. It is a most rigid physical examination. This from the standpoint of the church looks as if it excluded those who are most in need of help. This is not a criticism of the lodge, yet it indicates that there is still a sphere for the church and that there are some of the most important folk and these are the ones the church are concerned about."
